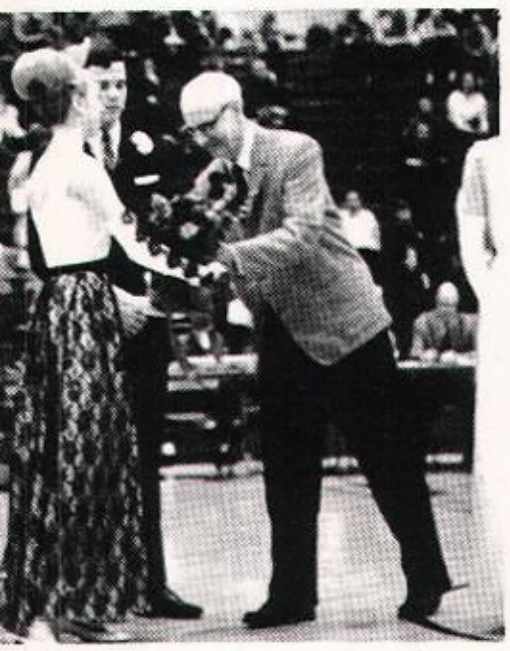
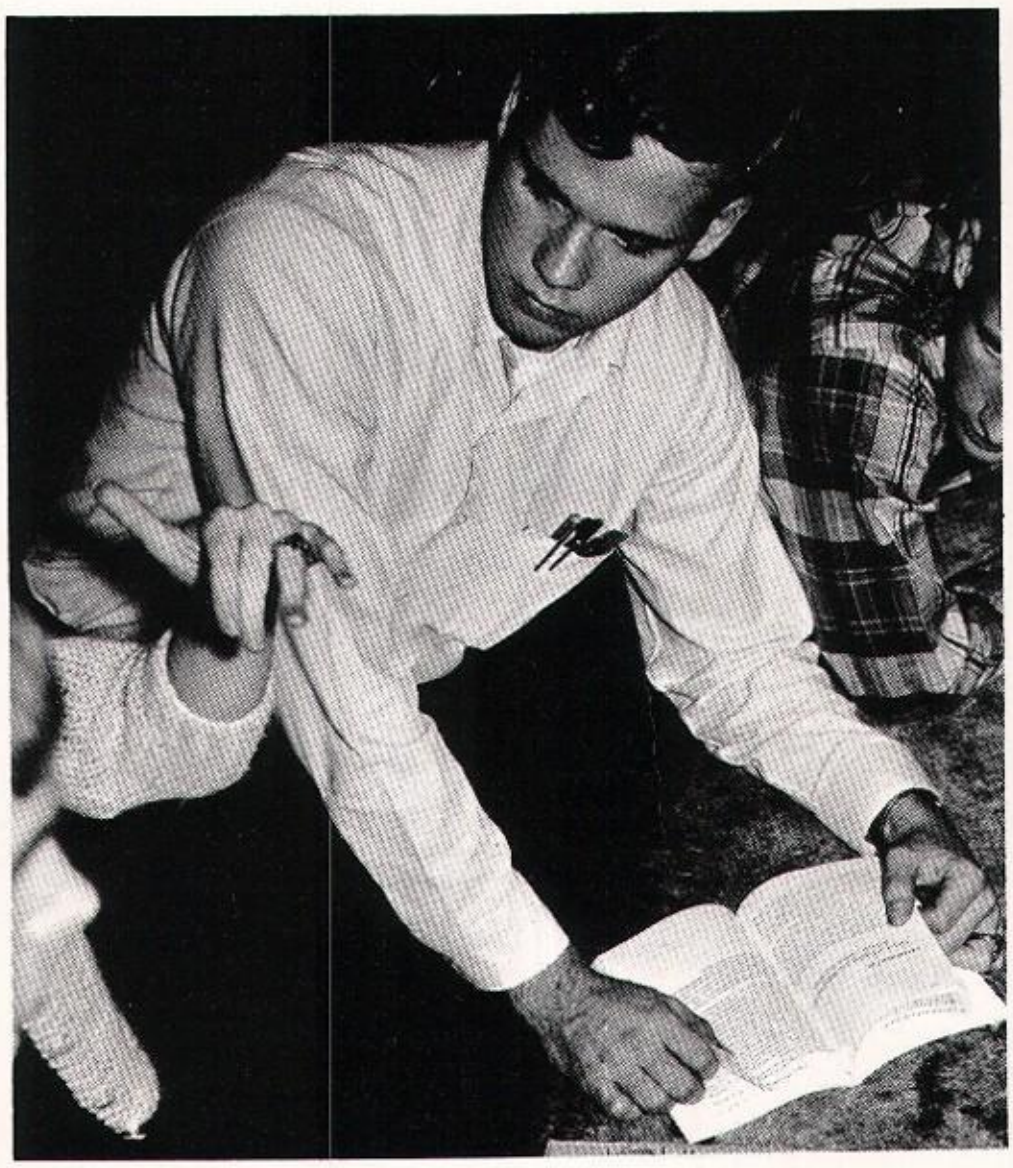
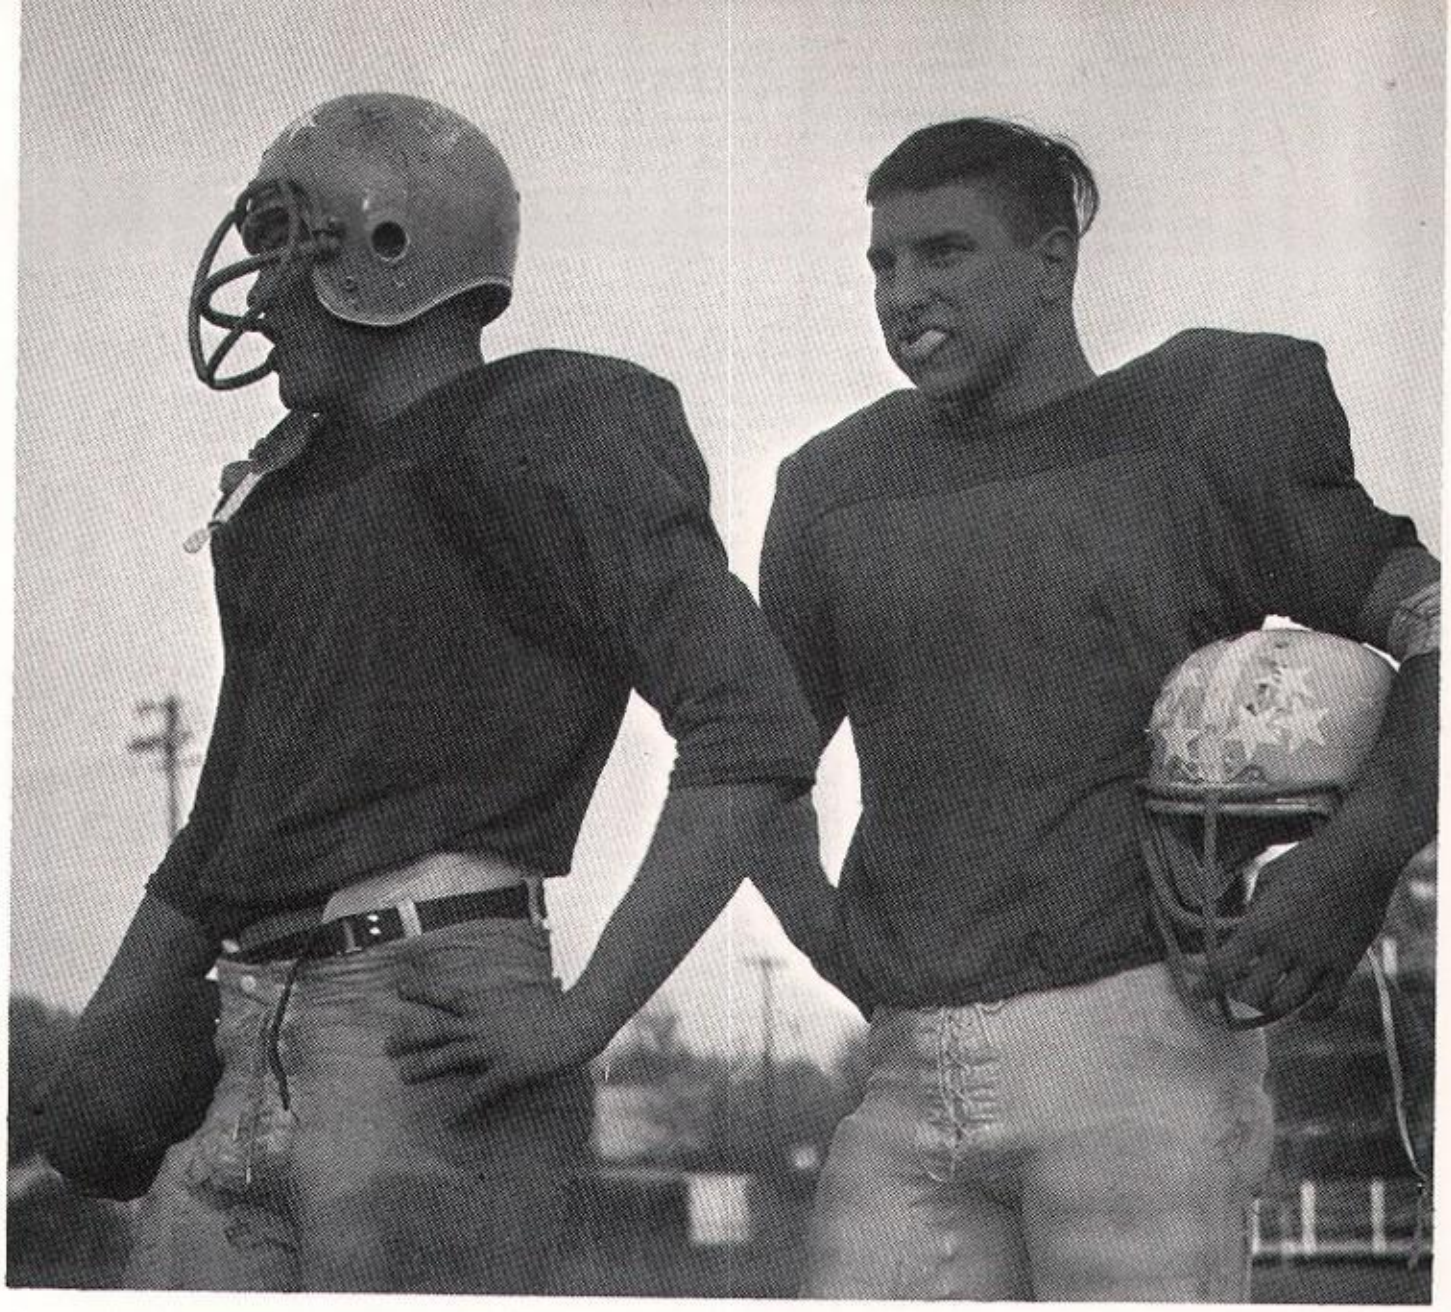
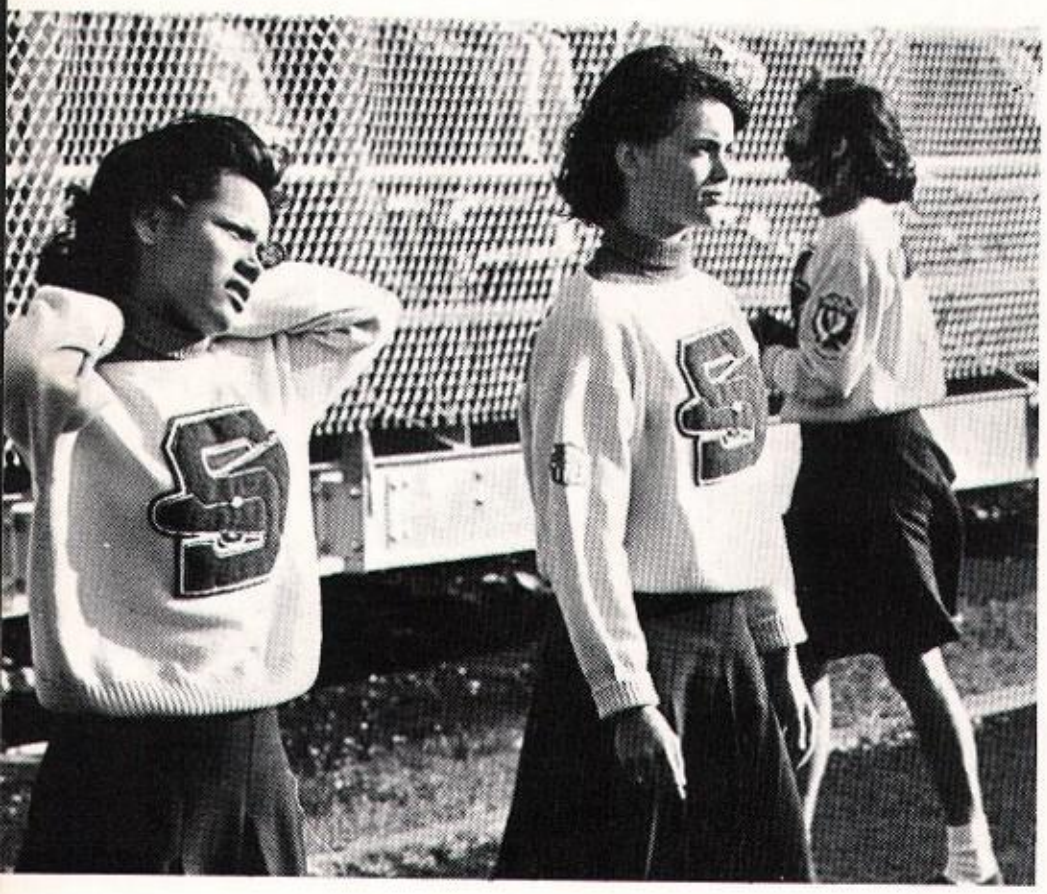
faces intent from participative effort

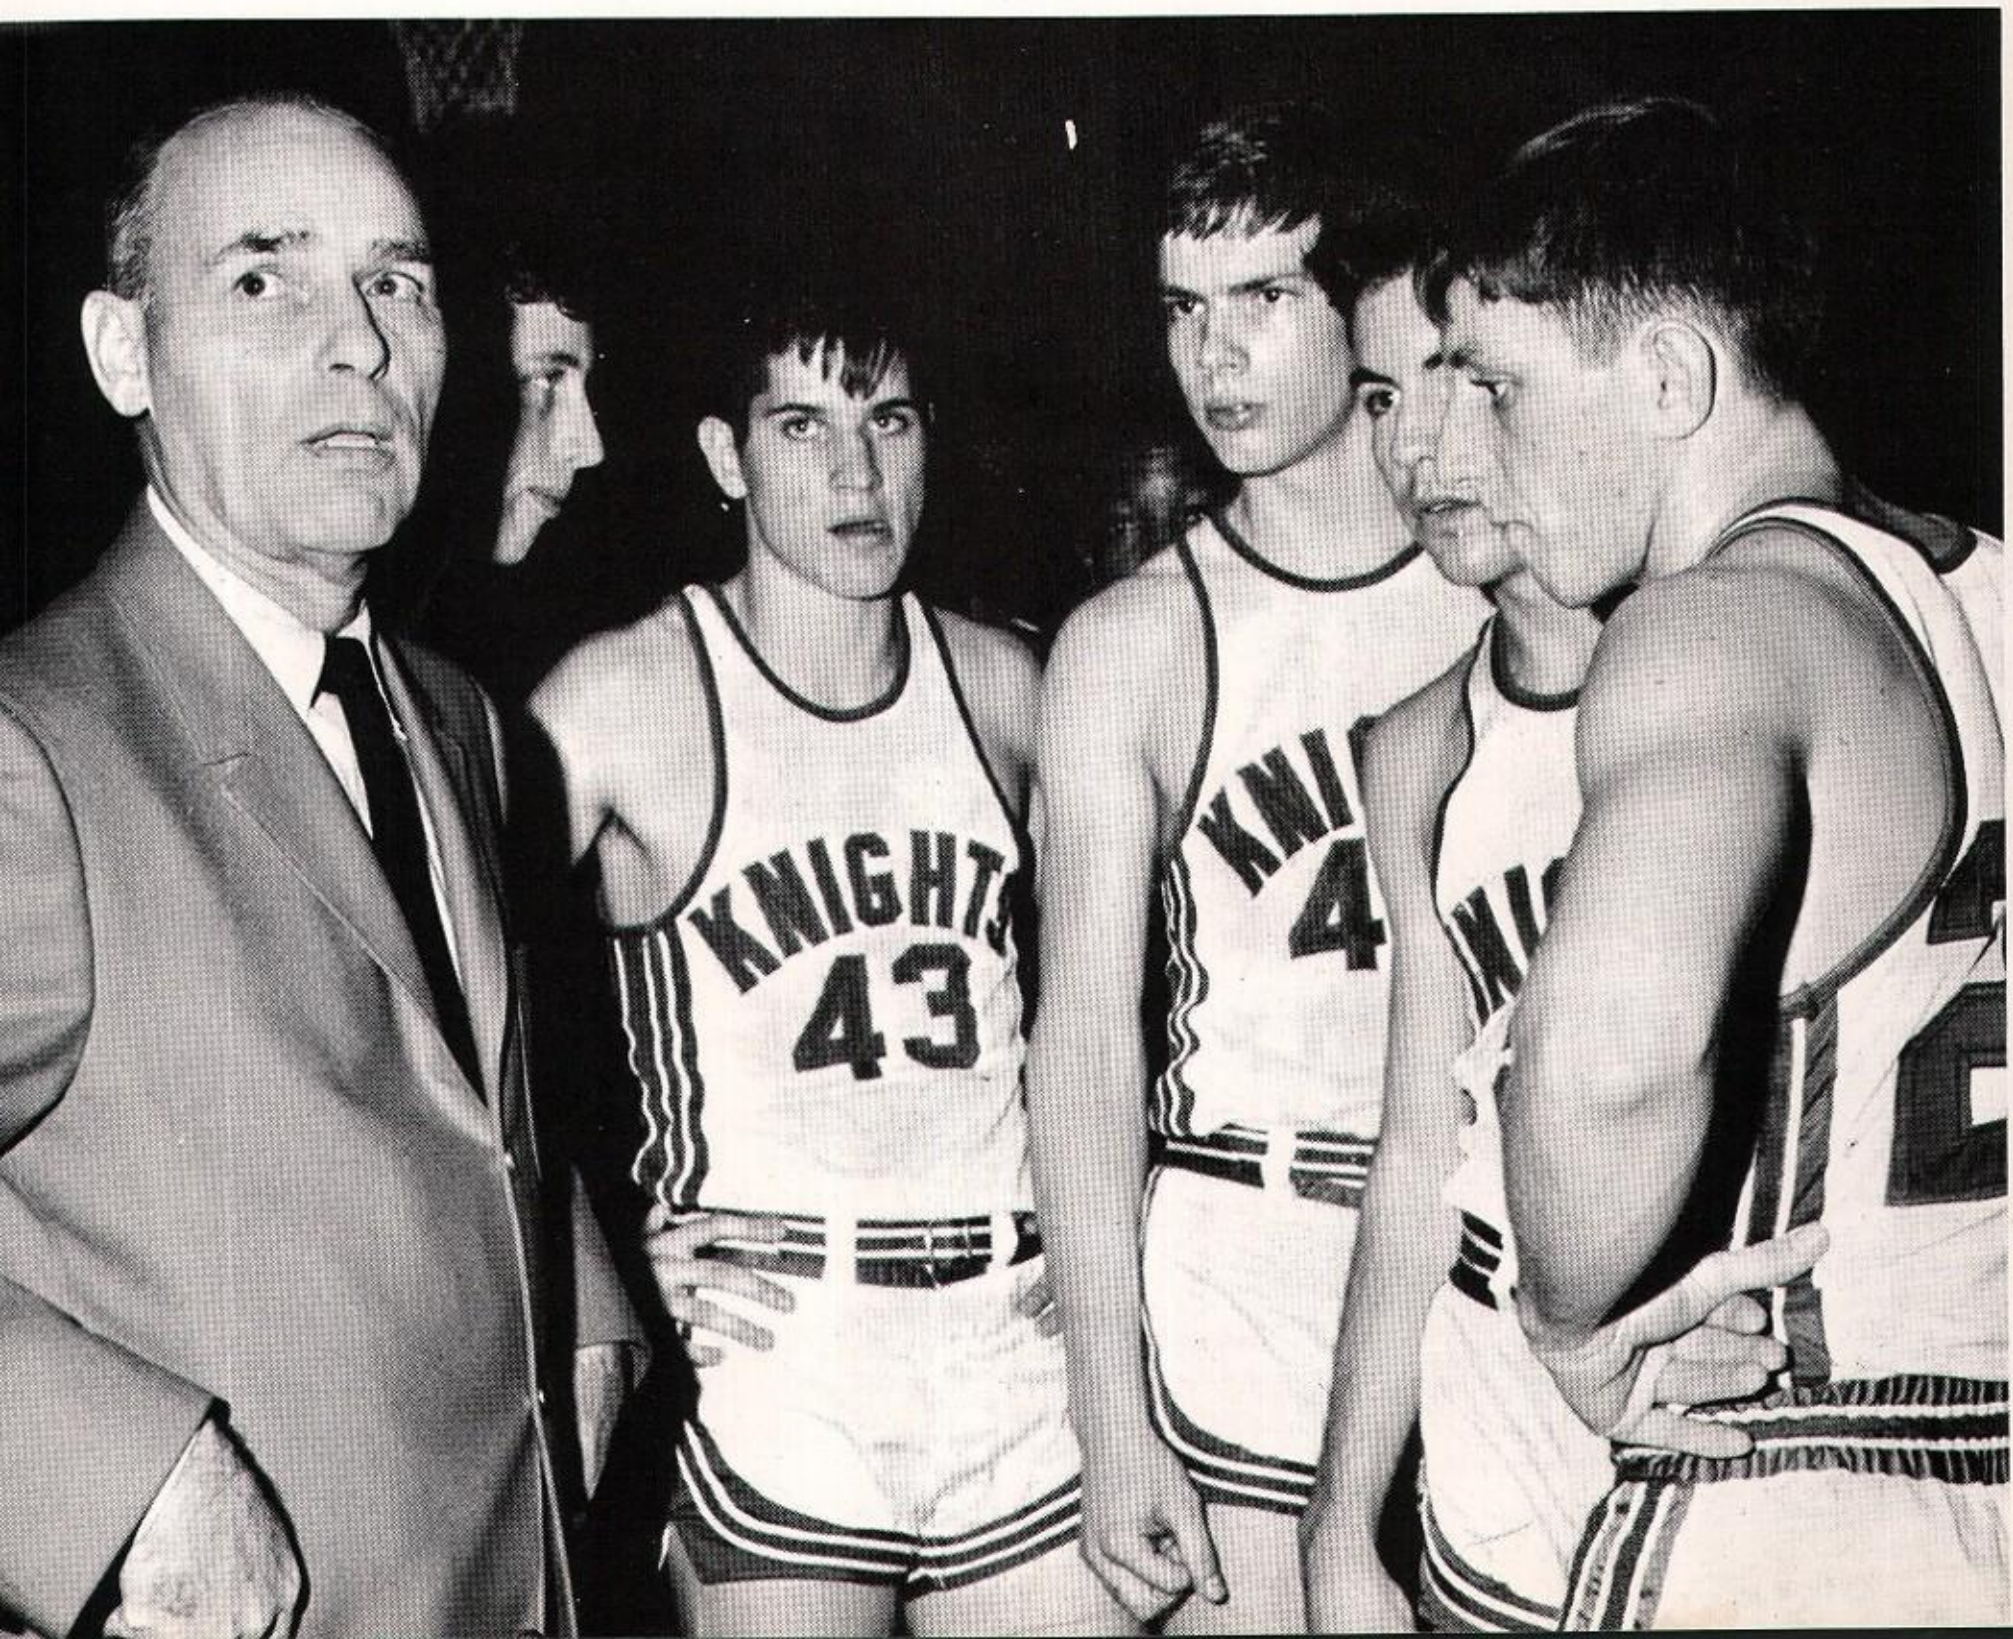








Faces absorbed by physical competition



Faces depicting Southeast's spirit—

Outside Southeast, seasons change. Fall chills into winter, and winter mellows to spring. The weather without Southeast is variable but the spirit within remains constant.

The Southeast spirit is not easily definable, even though it is easily seen. It is seen on the alert faces in the classroom. It is seen on the struggling faces on the athletic fields. And it is seen on the glowing faces participating in a school activity.

These faces are mobile, energetic and vibrant. These faces depict the spirit of Southeast. The spirit of Southeast is mobility; the spirit of Southeast is ACTION!

Margaret

Well, I've enjoyed having you as a sister for the last 16 years, 3 months, & 27 days. This is stupid signing my sister's year book. How embarassing! On years to come I'll remember sitting at U-Haul, eating pizza drinking beer and signing this. Good luck with Tommy, I hope you will win most of the arguments. FALL

Dear Seniors:

ACTION is rooted in the thinking of man. Thoughts emanate from information which may be acceptable or distasteful, satisfying or annoying, beneficial or detrimental. Man's thoughts are the very foundation of the glorious, almost miraculous, yet turbulent age in which we live. His dreams and visions have been translated into ACTION and events.

Our greatest need is ACTION to reveal our nation's ideals, attitudes, amibitions, and goals, to convince enemy nations that the United States of America seeks peace, freedom, and the good life for all people, and to activate our deepest dream for international understanding, good will, and peace.

Seniors, seek information which may be communicated by others, or obtained by reading and investigation. Be citizens of thought but also of ACTION.

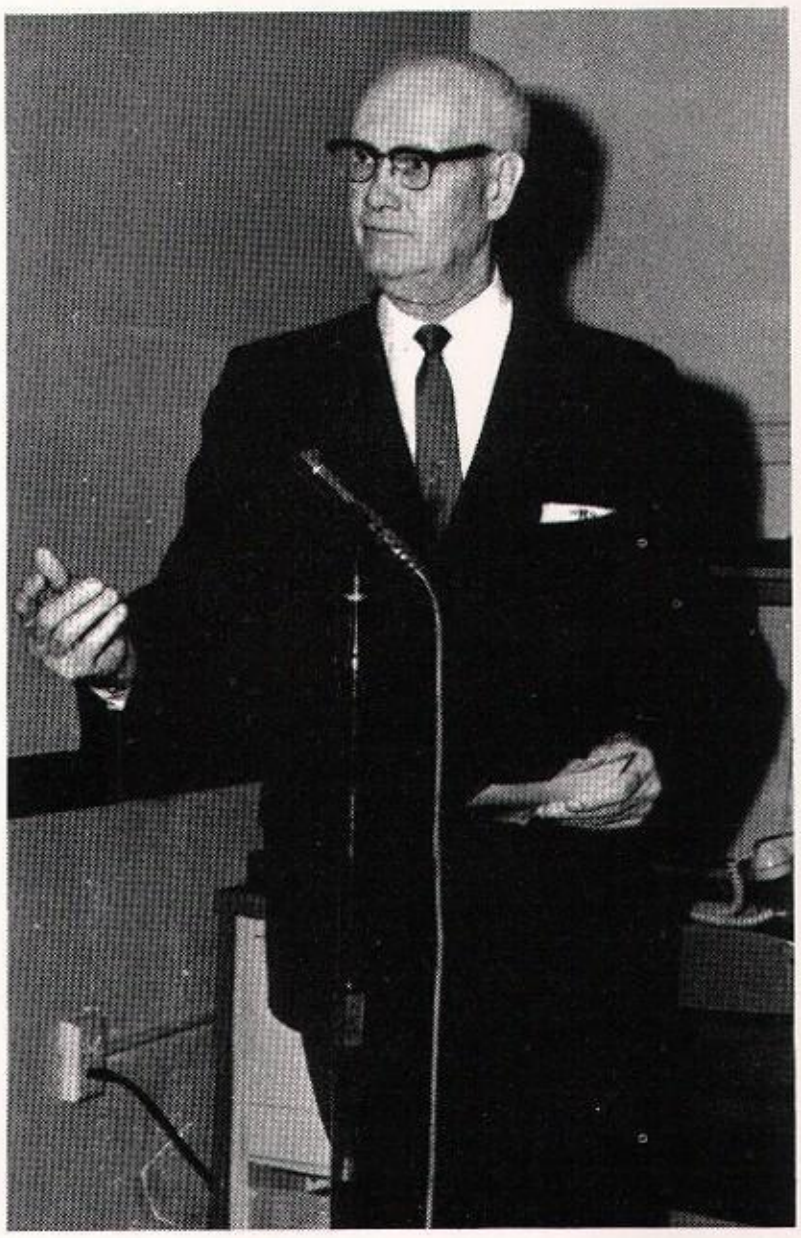
Sincerely,
Harry R. McMillan, Principal

McMillan, principal for 25 years

The Rockne Foundation gave the title of "Principal of the Year" for 1965 to Mr. Harry R. McMillan. But to Southeast's students and faculty, he has been principal of the year since 1940.

Mr. McMillan is deeply concerned with all facets of Southeast life. His concern is shown by his continual striving to improve Southeast. He has been an inspirational force in promoting school spirit and maintaining Southeast's rich traditions.

Through his efforts Mr. McMillan has helped to make Southeast a school for which students and teachers alike feel a lasting loyalty.

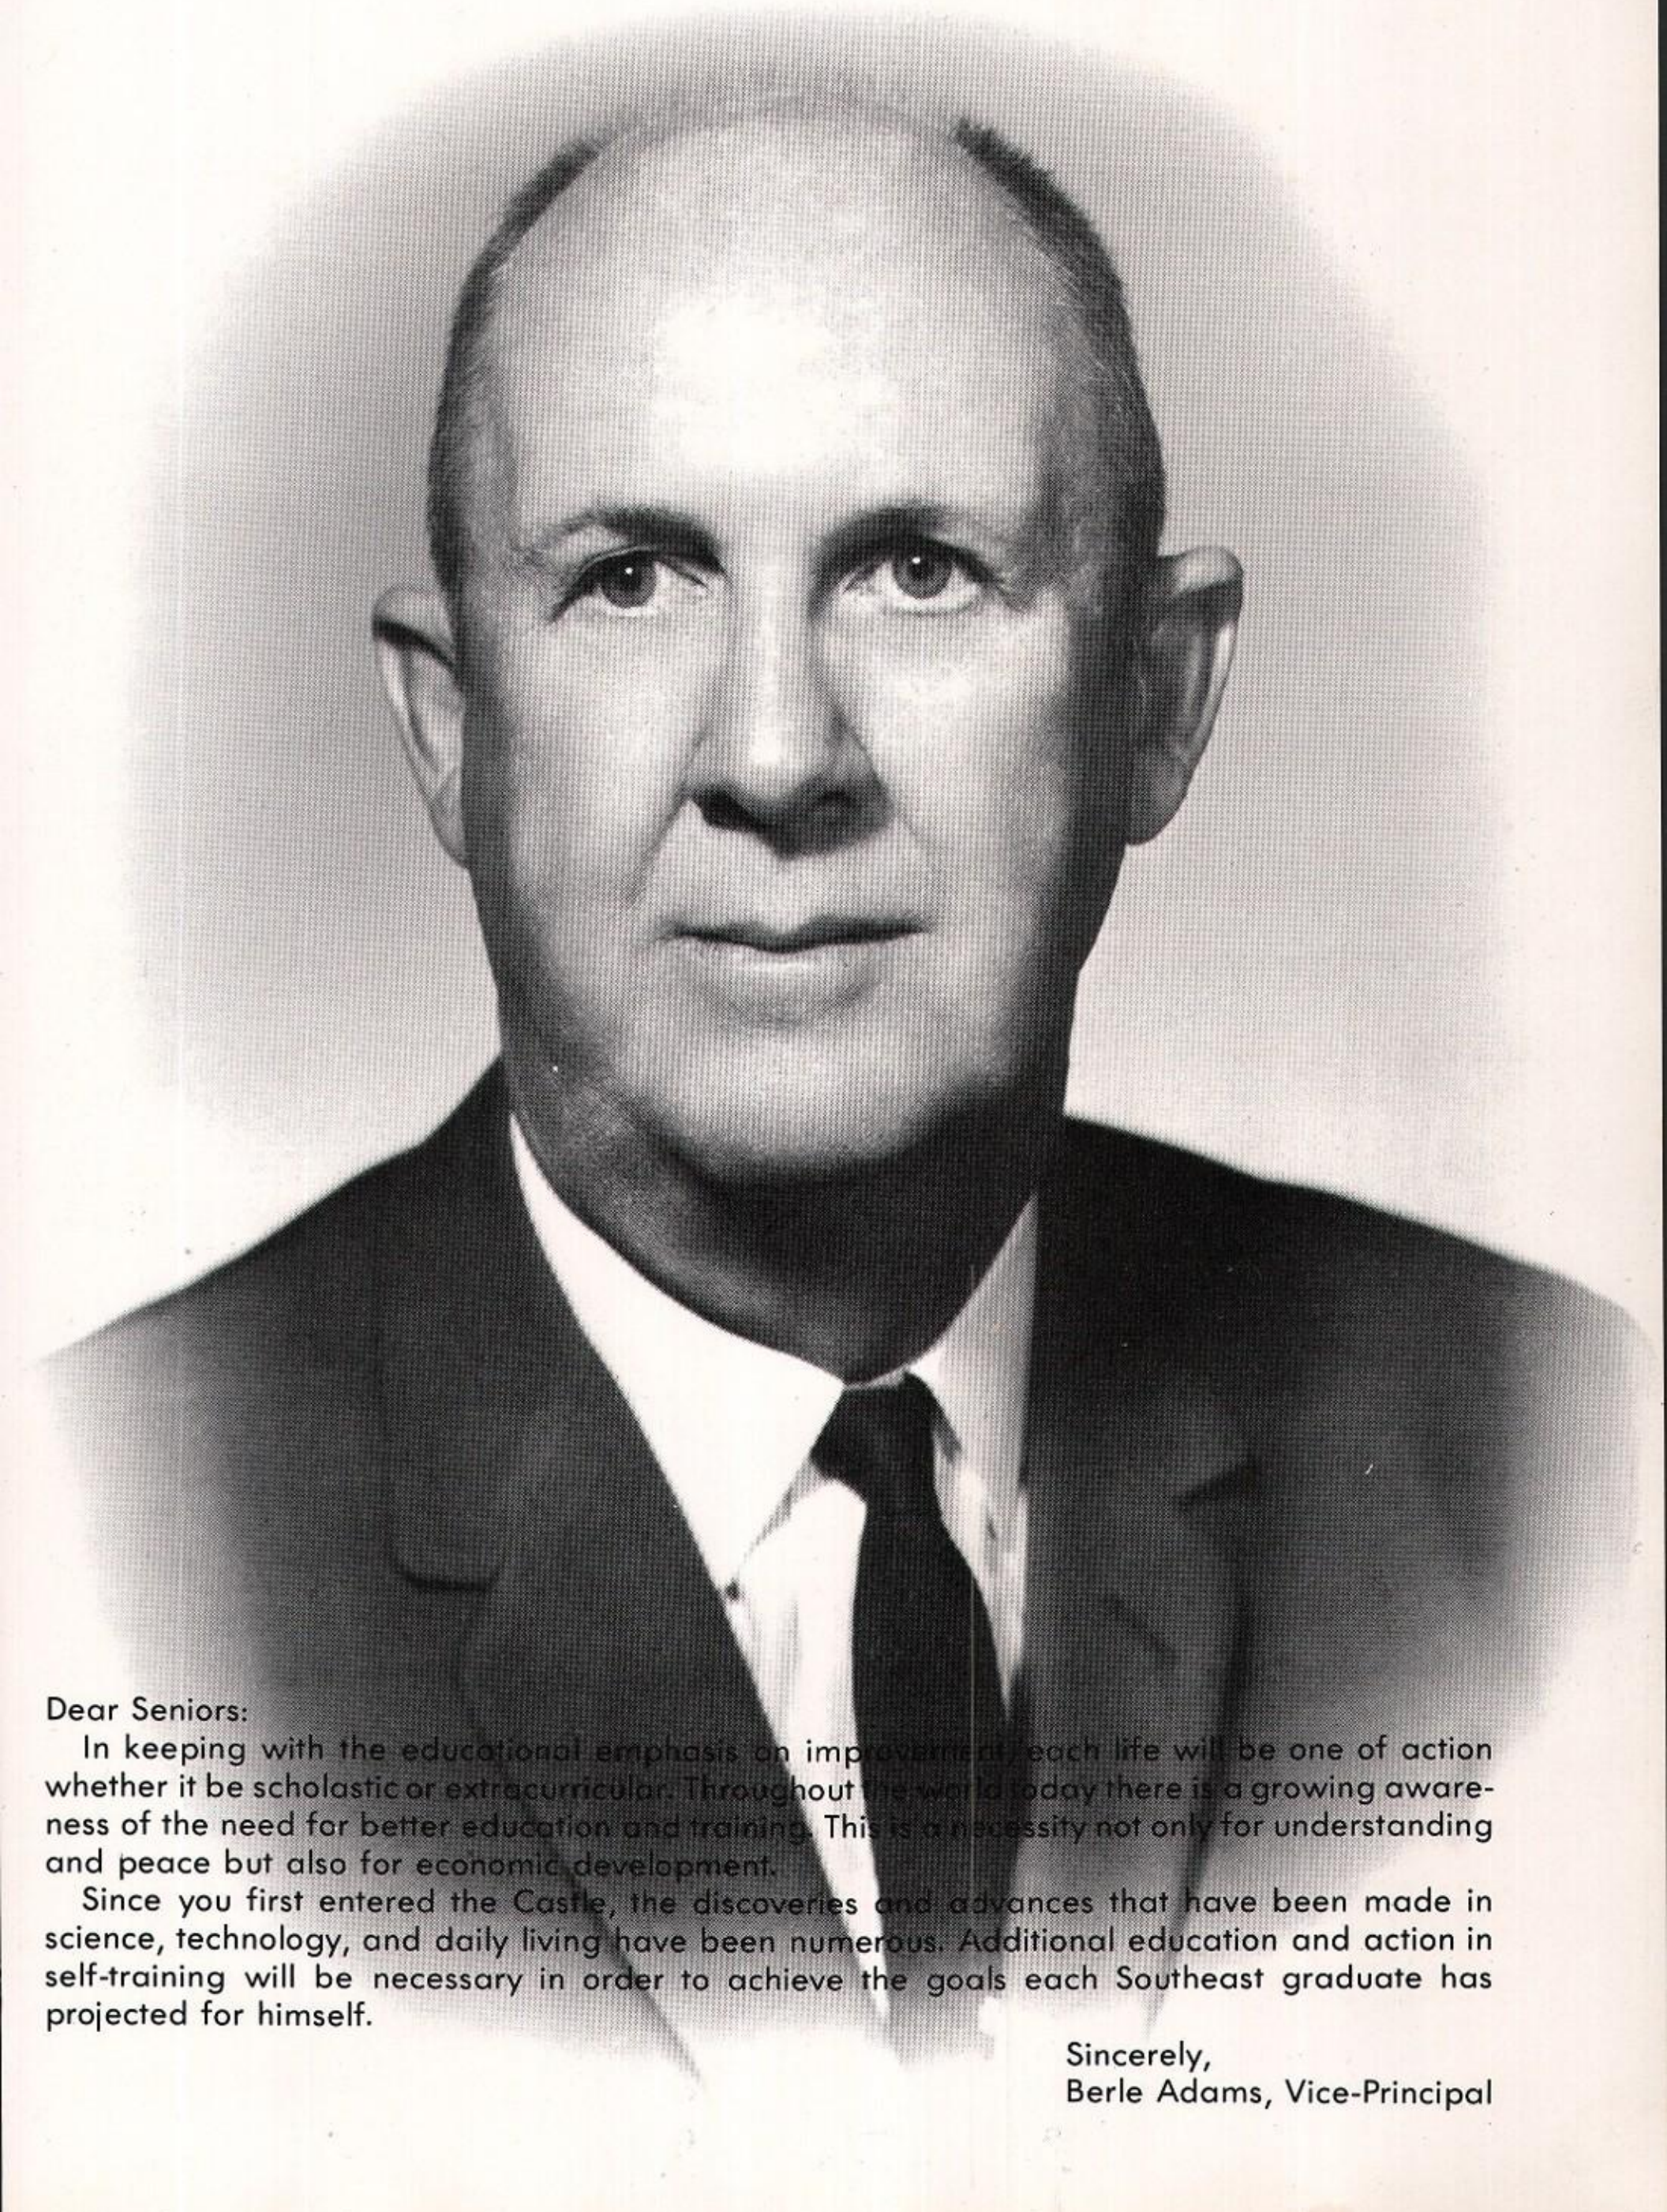


Dear Seniors:

It is said that "action speaks louder than words". If you agree, shall we see you taking action to further the ideals of good citizenship? May we also expect to find you at work in our democracy, upholding the right and preventing the wrong? May we always find you striving to bring about better human relations? Again, may we expect you to participate in political action designed to preserve the ideals of our founding fathers?

We hope your experiences here at Southeast will lead each one of you to take the proper action in solving the problems of your day. Upon such action rests the hope for a better world.

Best wishes from,
George R. Powell, Vice-Principal



Dear Seniors:

In keeping with the educational emphasis on improvement, each life will be one of action whether it be scholastic or extracurricular. Throughout the world today there is a growing awareness of the need for better education and training. This is a necessity not only for understanding and peace but also for economic development.

Since you first entered the Castle, the discoveries and advances that have been made in science, technology, and daily living have been numerous. Additional education and action in self-training will be necessary in order to achieve the goals each Southeast graduate has projected for himself.

Sincerely,
Berle Adams, Vice-Principal

Traditional code unfolds in the

nduction ceremony

As a freshman opens the doors of Southeast, a medieval world unfolds. He may wonder how a Round Table or a majestically-garbed Knight concerns the Southeast students. But, after seeing the annual Induction ceremony, he grasps the correlation. He learns of Southeast's tradition, the same tradition founded by King Arthur and the Knights of the Round Table.

The Induction portrays an evening of merry-making in King Arthur's court and presents various activities of the Castle in tableau form. The performance ends with the knighting of an outstanding senior.

This year's knight, Bob McDaniel, was admonished to follow the chivalrous code—to uphold courtesy, honor and freedom.

Boo! Hiss-s-s! Down with Professor Fate! Kill the despicable demon!

These exclamations could have easily come from this year's Knightlites audience. Professor Fate's sordid plot would have provoked disgust from any audience. Fate tried to disrupt Mr. Tinker Toynby's toy shop by kidnaping the beautiful ballerina doll. Fate was jealous of Toynby's popularity with the dolls and planned to seize the ballerina doll to gain power over the toy shop. Fate's plot failed when the dolls de-activated him by pulling out his key.

The toys sang and danced in joyous exultation over their victory. The ballerina doll was safe, thus bringing a happy ending to the annual Knightlites talent show.

Heinz bids Southeast "Guten Tag."

Dear Knights and Ladies:

From the very beginning of my stay in the United States, I have appreciated the friendliness of the American people. As a newcomer in a strange land, this friendship has meant a great deal to me.

During my stay here I have learned to admire the American people and have gained a better understanding of them. As a result of my experiences and pleasant associations, I feel that in my case the aim of the American Field Service, to promote understanding and friendship among the peoples of the world, has been fulfilled.

I have learned that in some respects my homeland Austria is different from the United States, but both Austrians and Americans have the same basic ideal for the good life—the love for and pursuit of individual freedom.

I will never forget Southeast with its excellent educational opportunities and its fine school spirit, nor will I forget my many friends in Kansas City.

Sincerely,

Heinz Pauer

The varsity football squad once again had an outstanding season as the Knights compiled a 6-2-1 overall record.

The fine offensive coaching of Coach Cecil Patterson was easily visible in such conquests as Manual, East, and North Kansas City, while the defensive skill, ably taught by Coach Jerry Boyce, showed especially brightly against North Kansas City and East.

Seven all-stars stand as a final testimonial to a team of whom the Southeast student body should well be proud.

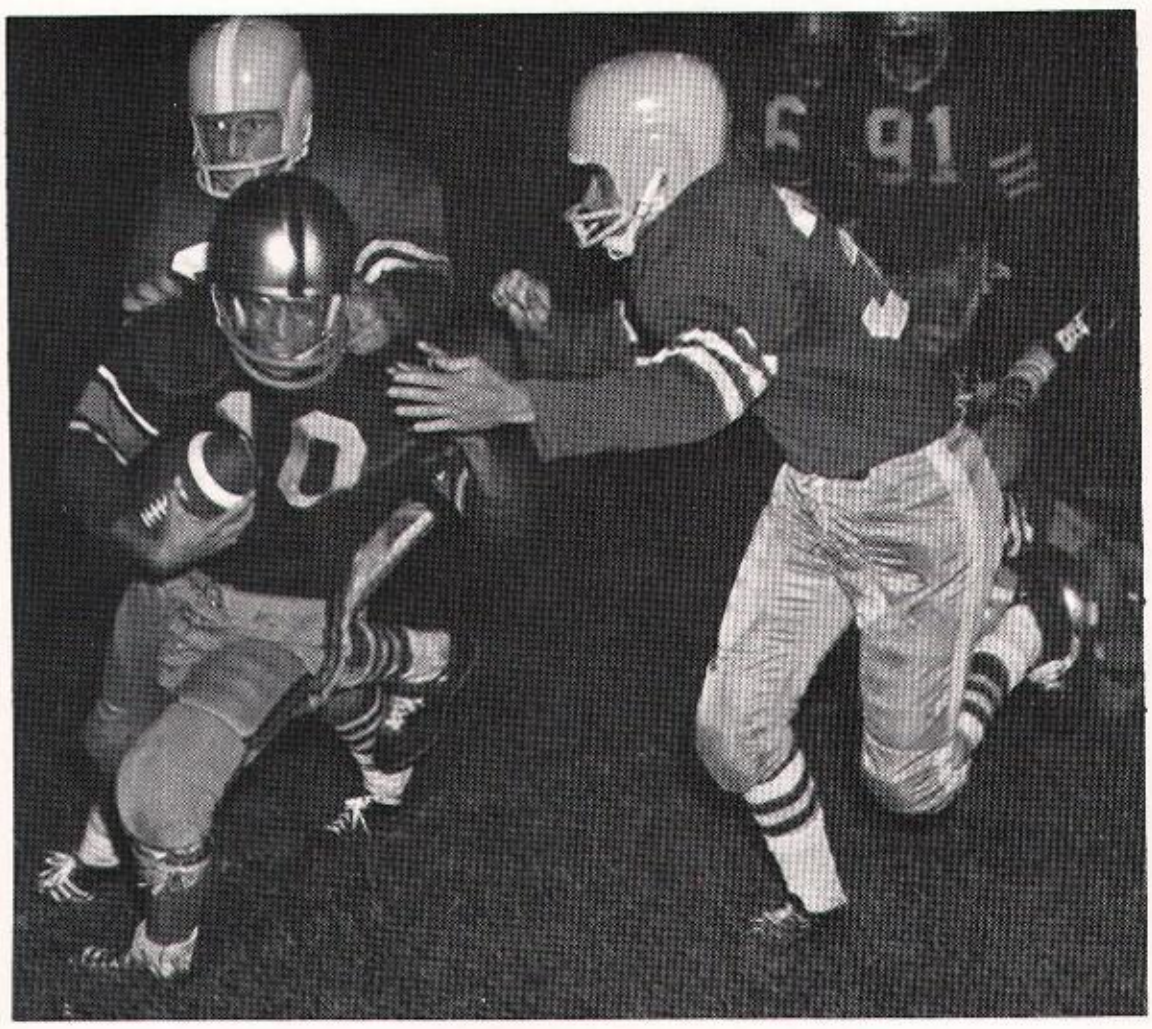
Game highlights recount winning year



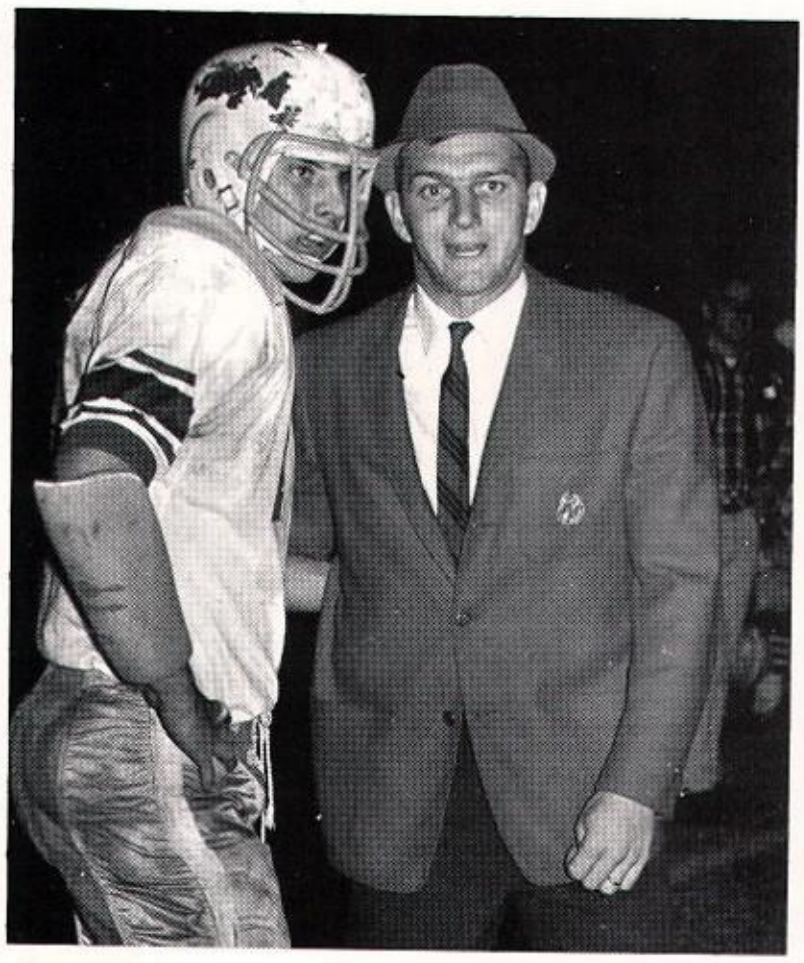
Northtown

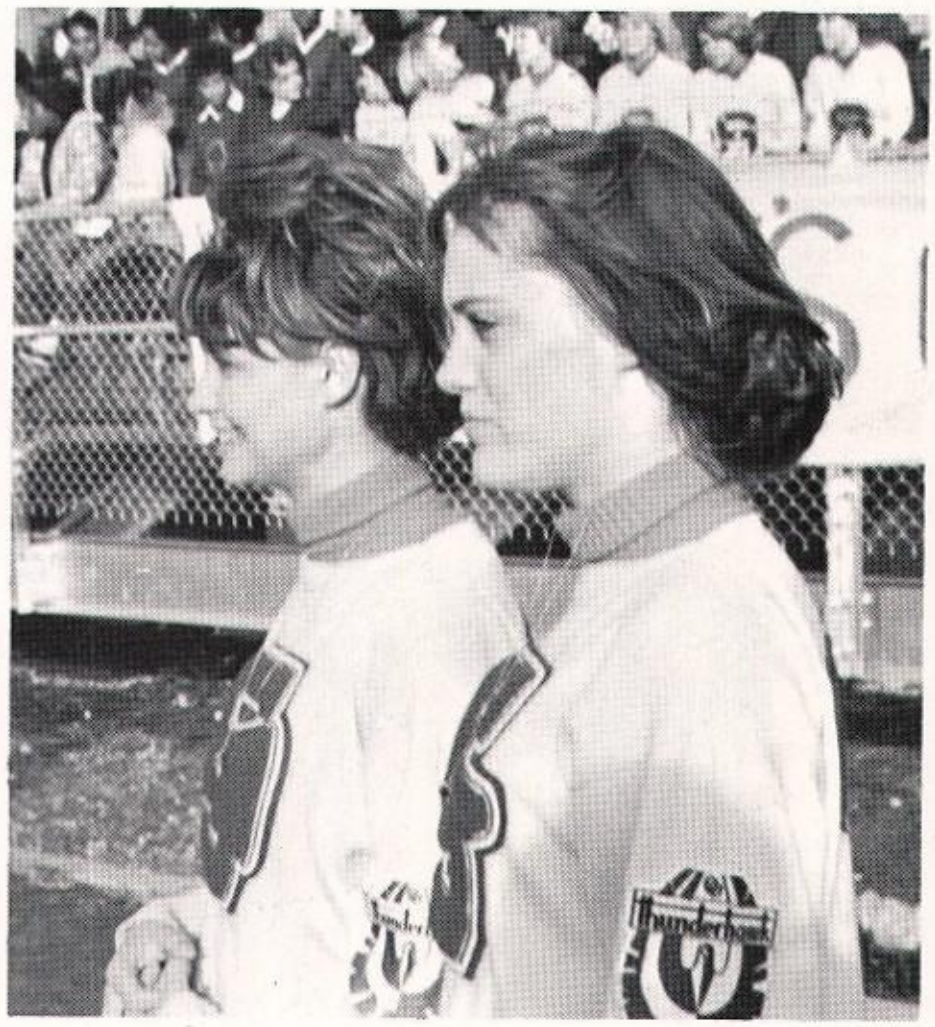
The game with North Kansas City proved to be a harbinger of a successful season for Southeast. A touchdown early in the first quarter created a deficit from which Northtown never recovered. Mike Hoedl's and Kenny Pummill's outstanding rushing, aided by Greg Herdon's key block and Logan Sousley's pass reception, proved to be determining factors in the 21-0 shut-out.

Paseo

A determined Pirate team tried vainly to dethrone the Knights in their second pre-season contest. A 14 point scoring effort in the third quarter gave Southeast the lead for the first time in the game. An end-zone tackle by Butch Lee resulted in a safety and strengthened our lead. The score was now 16-13. Extra point kicks by Jim Allred and touchdowns by Mike Hoedl and Dave Clark accounted for the Knights' scoring.

Coaches and cheerleaders





East

The Bears left our stadium with much to growl about as Southeast handed East a 28-7 defeat. The Knights ran a successful ground game against East's not-so-successful passing. A 41-yard run by Pete Parnell and a 66 yarder by Mike Hoedl put Southeast ahead for good in the first quarter. Ken Pummill's one-yard plunge widened the margin and Richard Greene's 39-yard run-back on a pass interception in the third quarter ended our scoring.

All of Jim Allred's extra-point kicks proved true.

keep team spirit alive

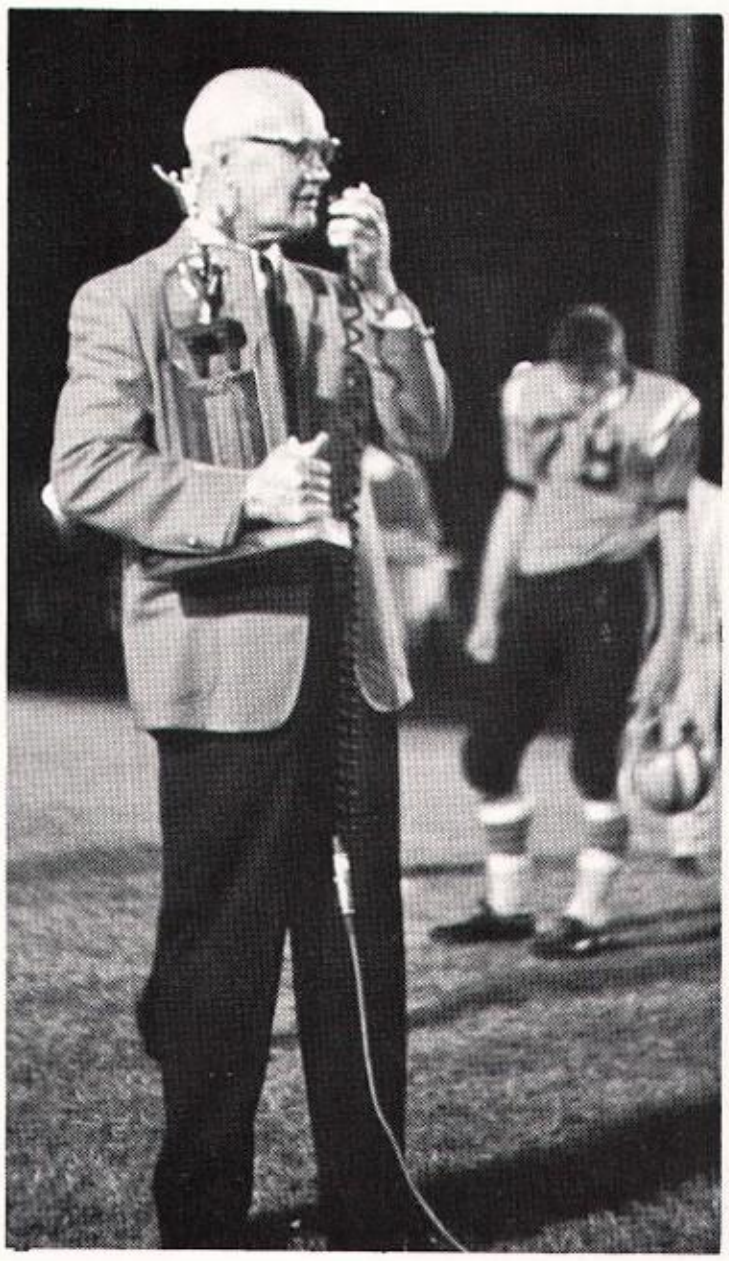
Westport

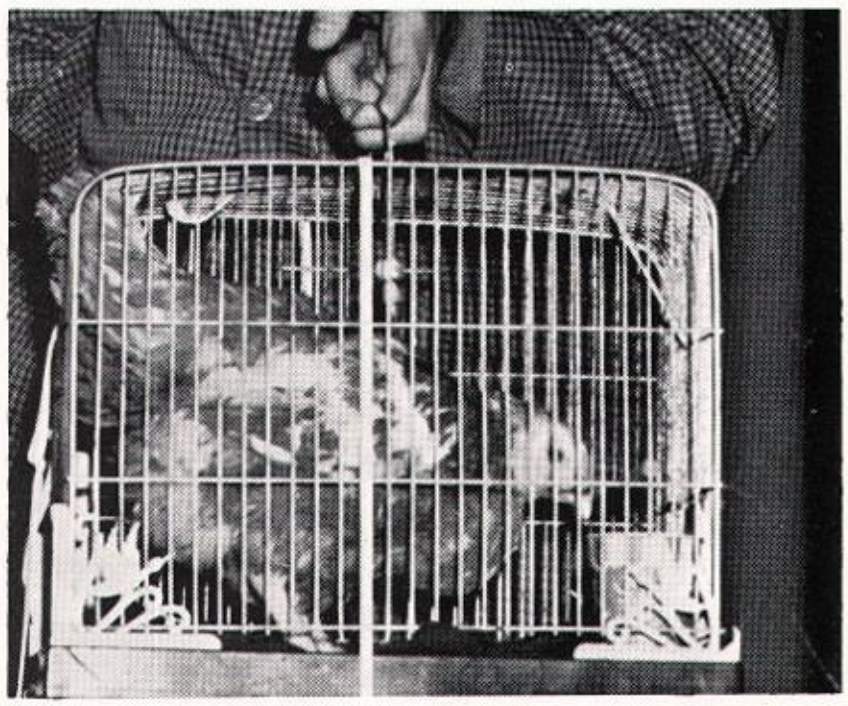
A 6-0 triumph over Westport led to a three way tie for a first place berth for the Knights in the Inter-scholastic League. Logan Sousley picked a loose ball out of heavy traffic to complete the pass for the only score of the game. Sousley began the Southeast drive by recovering a Westport fumble on the opponents' 40-yard line. This game boosted the Knights' record to 4-0.

A crowd of 4,500 spectators was on hand to witness the Knights' 25-20 triumph over Southwest in the annual rival contest. Mike Hoedl proved to be the most outstanding player of the game as he passed and ran Southeast into command. Jim Allred and Greg Ono both found themselves on the receiving end of a Knight touchdown pass, and Ono later scampered around left end for a 27 yard score.

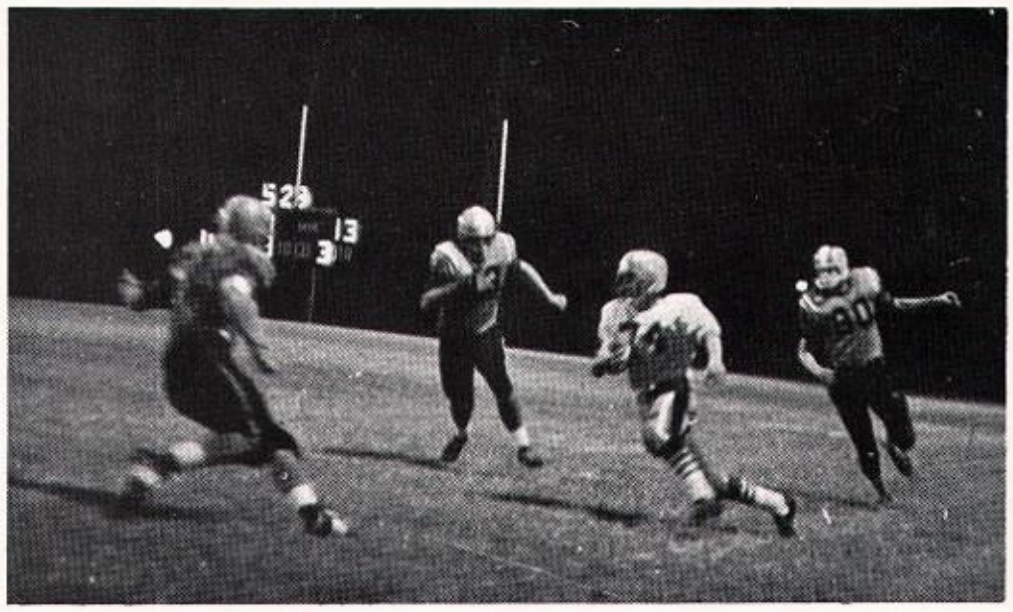
Southeast's defensive strength and an interception by Max Elrod helped earn the Knights' fifth straight victory and possession of the Southside trophy for the upcoming year.

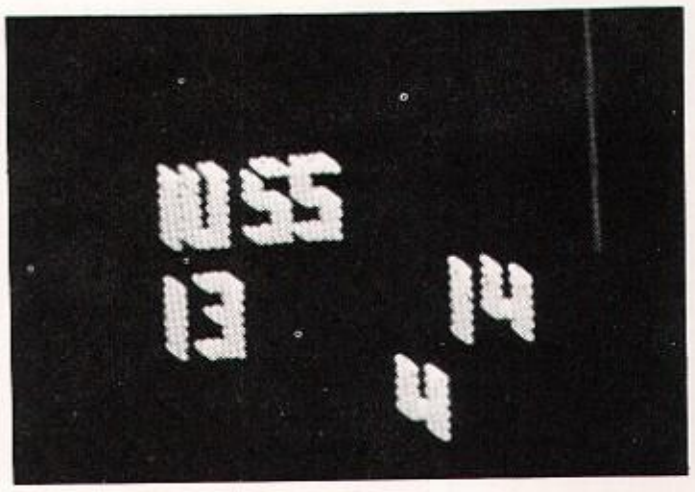
Southwest





Southwest sends victory omelet—Oops, omen!

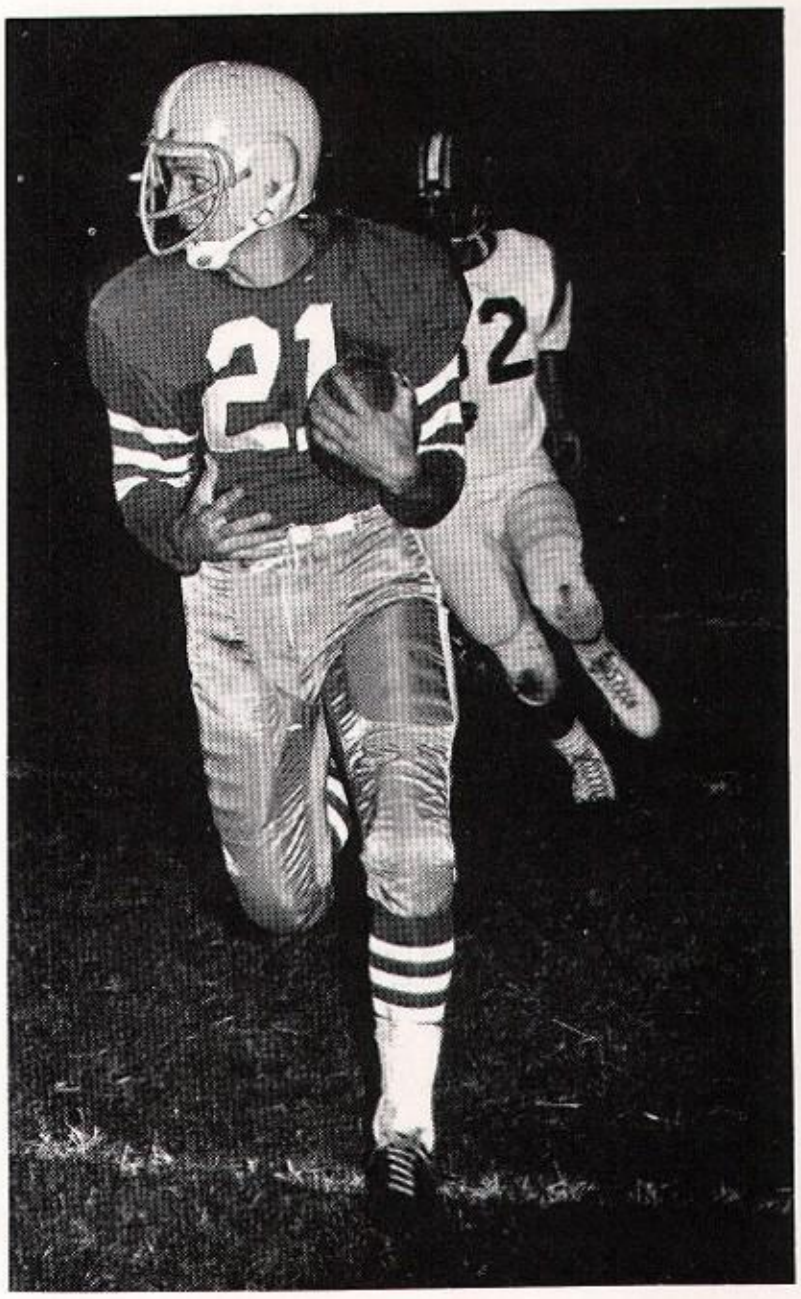


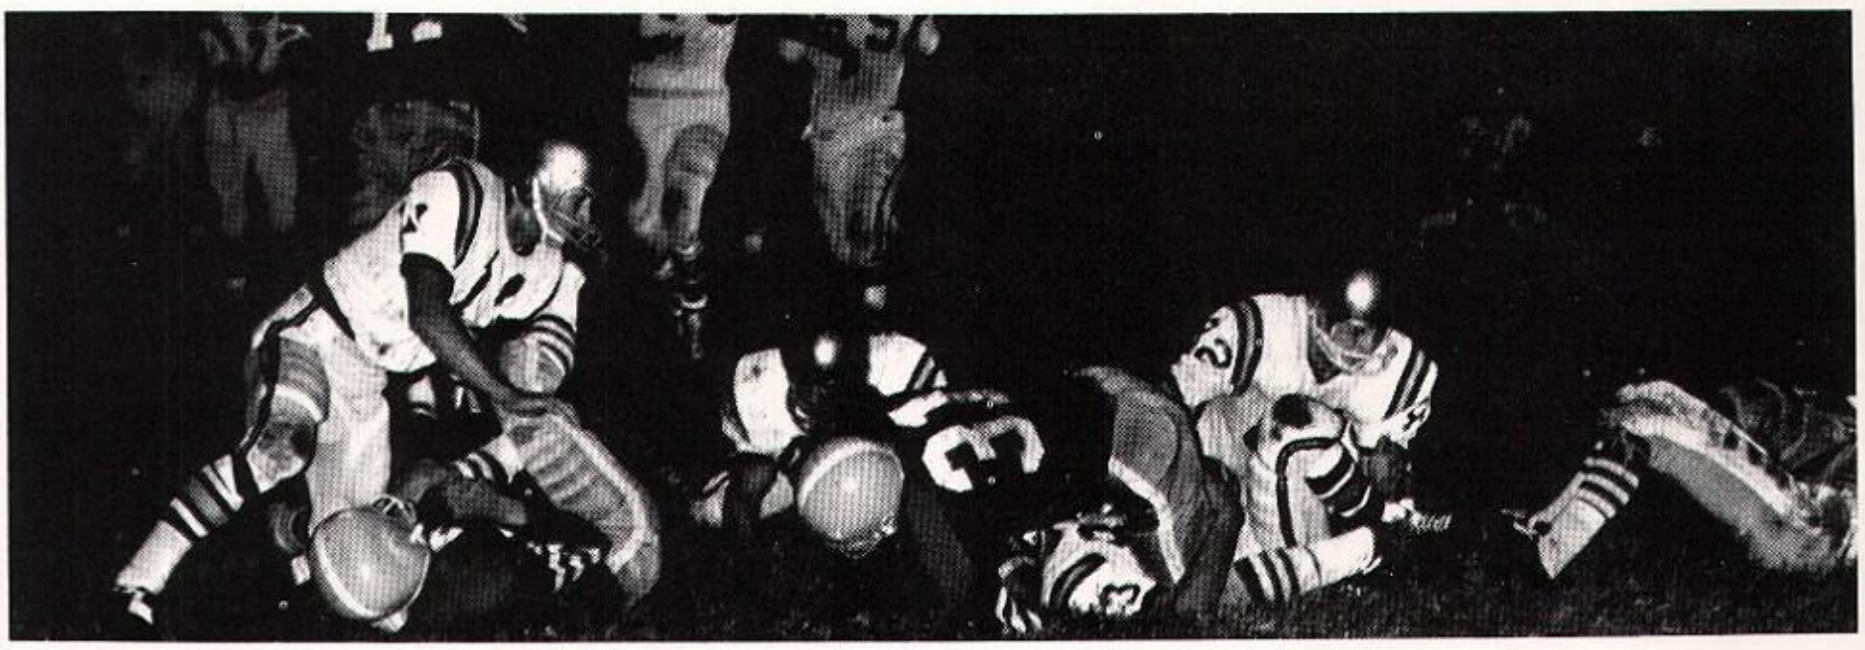


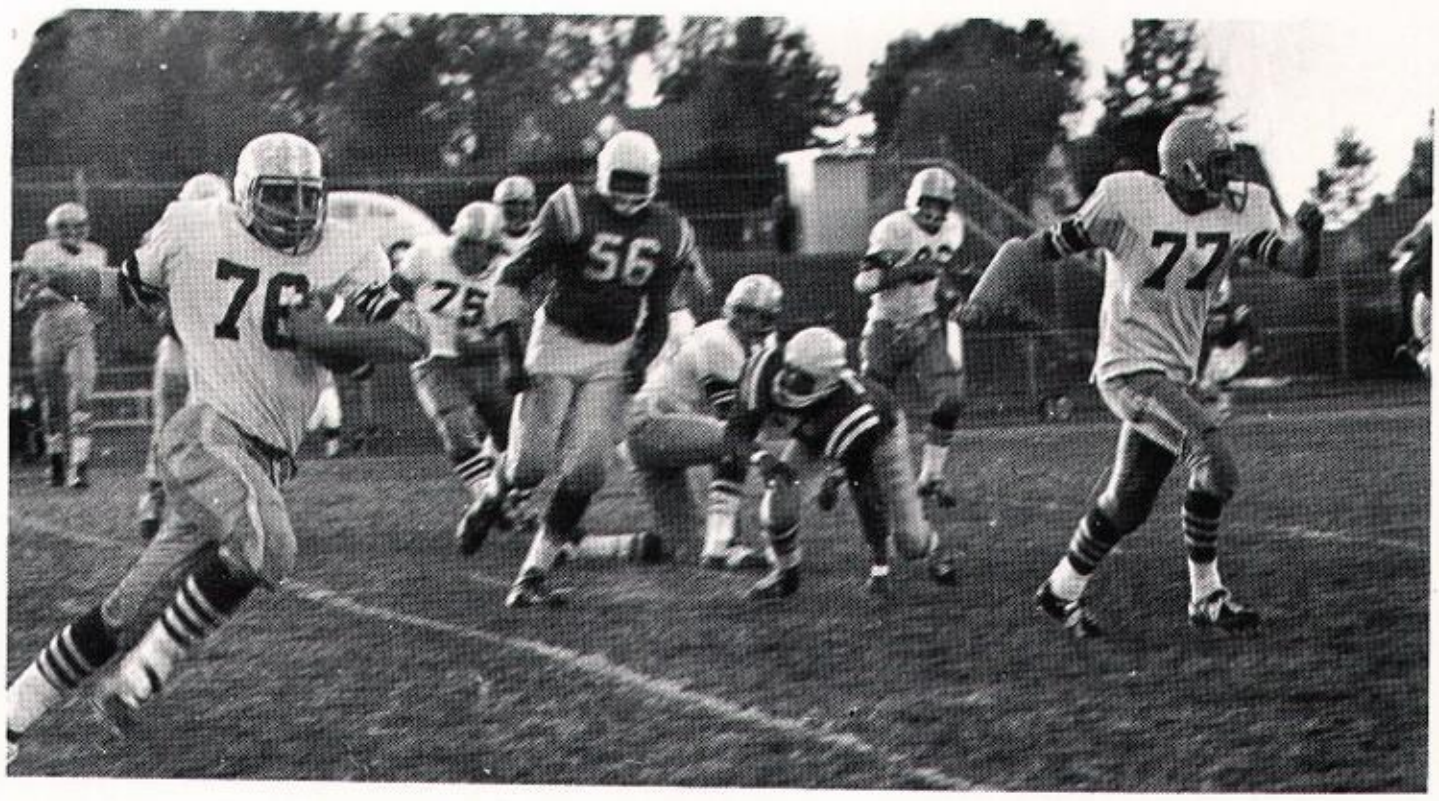
Lincoln

Southeast was toppled from a league-leading position and also from the hope of a perfect season in our fourth league contest of the year. The Knights earned a 7-0 lead early in the second quarter only to be tied by a Lincoln pass completion with 5 seconds left in the first half. A 7-7 deadlock held until, with only 2:51 left in the game, the Tigers pushed over the winning touchdown.

The Southeast offense led in both rushing and passing, but they were unable to use their advances favorably. Greg Ono led the game in individual rushing, compiling 93 yards on fourteen carries.







Central

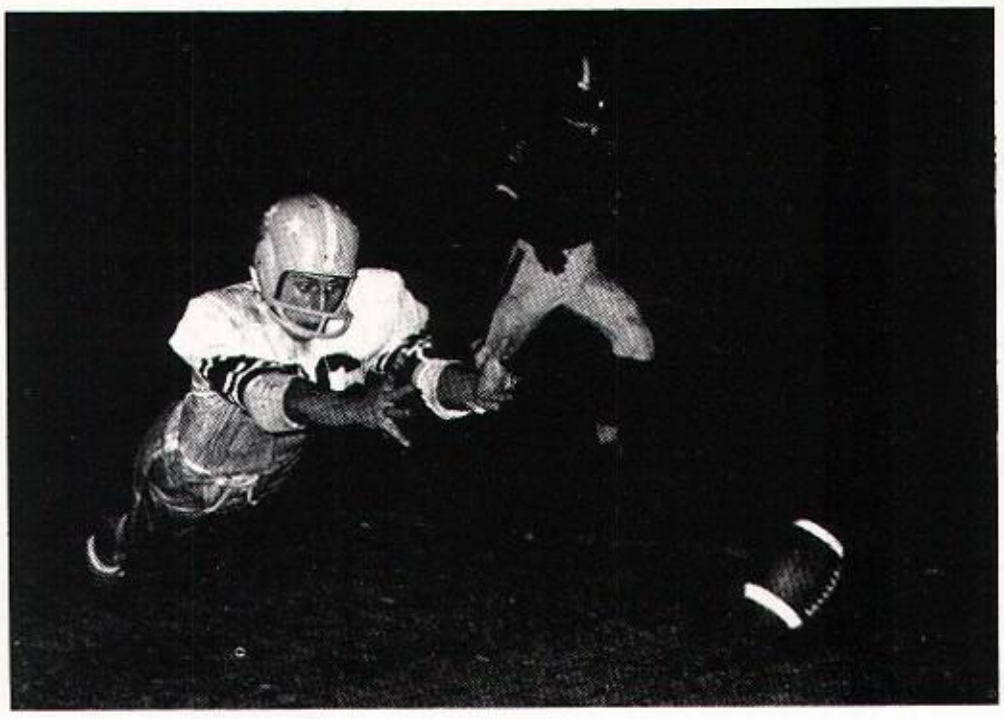
The Knights proved to be another victim of Central as the Eagles left our field with a 25-7 win to their credit. In the opening minute of the fourth quarter, Logan Sousley recovered a Central fumble on the opponents' 34-yard line and managed to return it to within one yard of the goal. Ken Pummill then vaulted across for the six points. This touchdown, however, did little to override Central's four tallies, and Southeast was handed its second loss of the year.

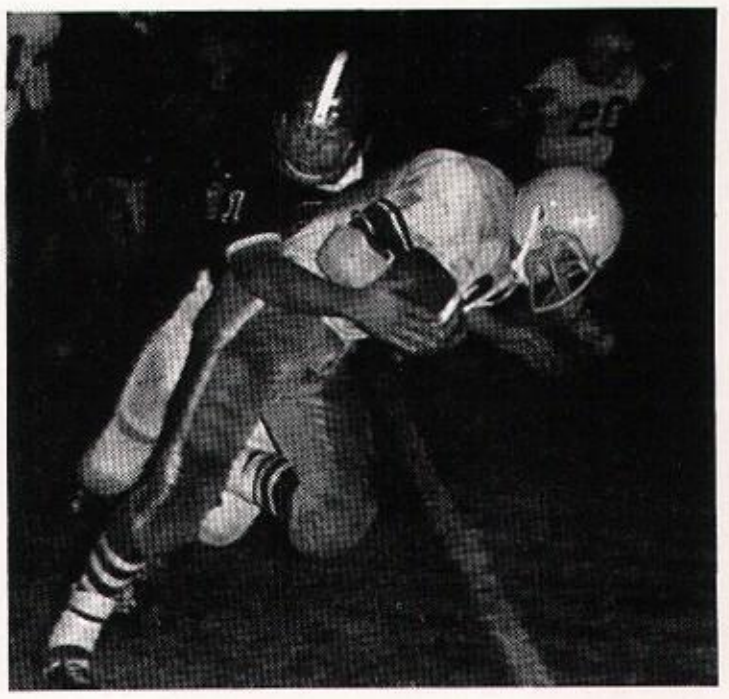
Crowning of queen

Manual

Southeast coasted to a 27-7 victory over the Manual Cardinals in the season's next-to-the-last contest. Greg Ono paved the way for Ken Pummill's 3-yard touchdown with a 40-yard run in the first period. Ono then earned a touchdown of his own with a 25-yard gallop to give a 20-0 lead at the half. Manual avoided a shut-out with a 45-yard fourth quarter touchdown.

Outstanding scorers for Southeast were Jim Allred, completing 3 out of 4 extra point attempts, and Ono, totaling 153 yards rushing on only 10 carries.





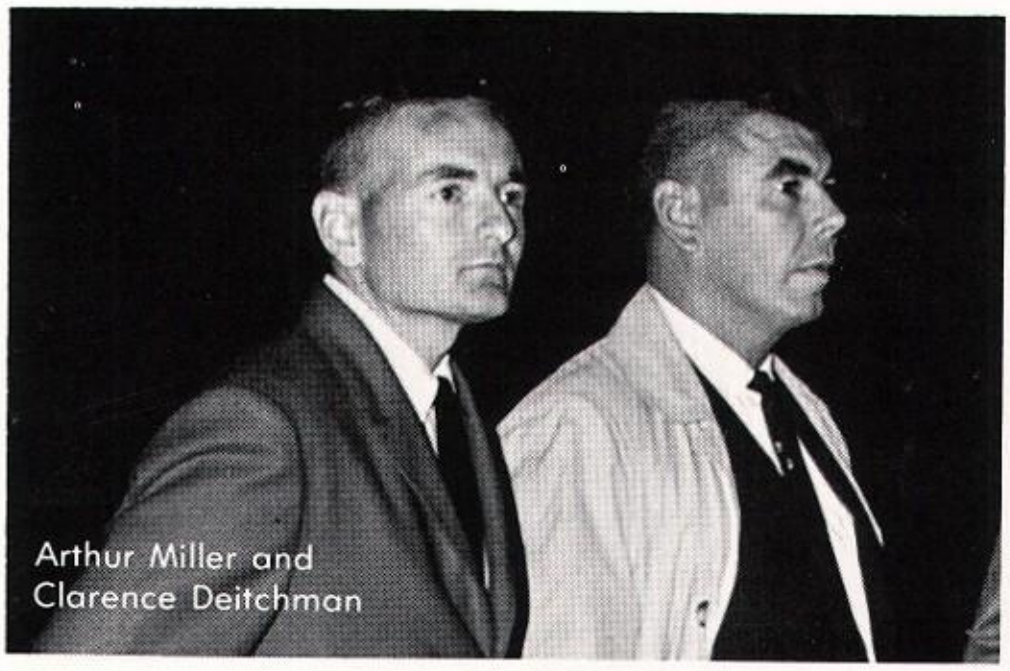
Van Horn

brings 1965 season to a close

A 13-13 tie with Van Horn provided the setting for the Southeast homecoming and final game of the season. Mike Hoedl scored the first tally of the night with a 79-yard jaunt. A second period touchdown by Greg Ono put the Knights into the lead. A Falcon score early in the fourth quarter resolved the deadlock, however, and the next 10 minutes, 44 seconds proved to be a defensive battle with Pete Parnell, John Mullin, Ronnie Parker, Ron Williams, Jim Scammahorn, and Bill Endres leading the Knights.

With 1:43 and 1:13 remaining on the clock, Jim Allred attempted field goals from the 15 and 30-yard lines, respectively. Both proved unsuccessful and the clock soon ran out.

During a half-time ceremony, Miss Jo Lynn Niday was chosen to represent Southeast as 1965 football homecoming queen.



Arthur Miller and
Clarence Deitchman

B-Team

Southeast's B-team contended with powerful league competition this season as they obtained a 2-6-1 tally for the year. Led by Coaches Clarence Deitchman and Arthur Miller, the B-team helped produce many fine prospects for next season's varsity.

Cross Country

A challenging two-mile event was the object of nearly two months of training for Southeast's cross country team. Coached by Mr. Arnold Caviar, the boys practiced rigorously in Swope Park during September and October. The highlight of the season was the city meet, in which Steve Waller placed twelfth out of seventy-five contestants.

On October 10, 1939, the Round Table was called to order. But it was not King Arthur rapping for the attention of Lancelot and his other knights. This was a student beginning the first meeting of Southeast's student council.

Southeast's twentieth-century Round Table strives for the same goals as King Arthur's medieval Round Table did. Guided by Miss Louise Mosman and Mr. Clifford Carpenter, it gives every student a voice in school activities through homeroom representatives. Not only has King Arthur's goal of democracy been revived, but also his stress on a chivalrous code and on good citizenship is being maintained by the Round Table.

The publication of the student directory, the purchase of a scrap book for the American Field Service student, and the collection of contributions for United Funds were some of the achievements of the first semester Round Table.

Campaign
January 1966

Campaign spirit struck Southeast after the holidays as five seniors vied for second semester Round Table president. As usual, the final vote-drawing activities were handbill politicking and speeches by the nominees and their managers.

Jerry Vandiver and Chuck Chowins were elected president and vice-president.

The most selective choral group at Southeast is the concert choir. A pleasing voice quality, a knowledge of music, and good citizenship are requirements for choir members.

Under the direction of Mr. Ben Markley, the choir plays an important role in school activities. Some of these activities are Knightlites, the festival of music, the Christmas concert, commencement and baccalaureate.

This year, Southeast's concert choir performed with a city-wide mass chorus that sang at the Music Educators National Conference.

the makings of the orchestra

Each year the freshman induction and the spring play are enhanced by overtures played by the orchestra. This selective group also gives musical enjoyment at the open house program, the Christmas and winter concerts, and the music festival.

Along with these events, the orchestra participated in several functions. They attended a clinic at Truman High School to improve their talents, and a large number of orchestra members performed with the all-city orchestra. This group, directed by Mr. Ben Markley, appeared Kansas City Night at the Music Educators National Conference.

The band strengthens Southeast's claim to excellence. Whether marching in the American Royal Parade, playing at football games, performing in the winter concert or the all-city band festival, the band brings recognition to the school.

The band's quality is a result of long hours of rehearsal under the guidance of Mr. Ben Markley. Band members often begin their day with early practices and end it with individual sessions at home. Thus they are able to further Southeast's image with each performance.

"Scholarship, leadership, service"—these are the purposes of the National Beta Club, Southeast's honor society. With the aid of Mr. E. Allen Smith, Betas learn of their purposes and are urged to fulfill them.

Of the club's three purposes, service has priority. In the course of the year, Betas ushered at the Music Festival, Commencement and P.T.A. meetings. Pledges are required to complete a service project before they are initiated into the club. Painting waste containers for the halls was the contribution this year. In another field of service, Betas helped other students attain better grades through a tutoring service.

Debbie Pickering was the Southeast Beta Club's candidate for state vice-president at the State Convention this spring. Pictured with Debbie are her campaign managers, Joy Bailey and Laura Teetor.

Scholarship is characterized by every Beta because it is a criterion for membership. To be eligible to become a pledge, a student must have maintained an "S" average throughout his high school career.

Betas are also concerned with beautifying Southeast. The keepers of the archives are responsible for maintaining artistic displays in the first floor showcase.

A large percentage of club members attended the state convention in St. Louis this spring. During the three-day gathering, Betas were instructed in their duty of "leadership".

best . . . and he got it

Basketball was a winter focal point as Southeast again boasted an outstanding squad. Backed by vigorous enthusiasm in the stands, the Knights earned a second place in the William Jewell Tournament, following a heartbreaking 53-51 loss to Van Horn. The tables were turned two games later, however, when Southeast trimmed the Falcons 91-82 in the most exciting contest of the year.

At the season's end, Southeast lost its head basketball coach, Nate Roitman. His promotion to a new position caused him to leave the Knights' bench after seven years of producing fine basketball teams at our school. His seventh squad was no exception as Southeast hustled to a fourth place in the Interscholastic League and an 11-10 overall record.

From the social stand point, the Homecoming Dance and the crowning of Queen Cheryl Pennington highlighted the season.

At every contest, the enthusiasm of the crowd was surpassed only by that of our players. Their spirit was best expressed by Coach Roitman, when he proudly spoke of them as "a team that gave two-hundred per cent of themselves". This is as fine a tribute as any team could hope to earn.

A visitor to the CRUSADER room sees many activities. He may see a photographer taking a picture, or an editor struggling to proportion a picture with a slide rule. But whatever he sees, it is hard for him to sense the feelings the staff have for one another and for their yearbook.

The CRUSADER staff of 1966 was a close knit group with feelings of loyalty and pride. The loyalty came from a unity of purpose and long hours of working together. The pride came from creating and presenting a unique annual to Southeast's faculty and students.

As a service club, Y-Teens offers high school girls the chance to aid others. One of the service projects this year was making candy favors for Mercy Hospital.

Along with serving others, club members participated in an enrichment program guided by the sponsors, Miss Vestal Maze, Mrs. Carol Spady and Miss Willa Williams. Instructive and inspirational programs, featuring such speakers as foreign students and ministers, gave the girls a broader view of life.

Another activity, the annual mother and daughter tea, allowed Y-Teens members to honor their mothers.

The energetic, active girl needs a club which offers an outlet for her energies. Jousters is such a club. Through Jousters, Southeast girls have the opportunity to participate in intramural sports, to learn good sportsmanship and to perfect their athletic skills.

Horseback riding and skating are out-of-school sports offered to Jousters. This club also sponsors special activities such as overnights, sports days and the annual athletic-award program.

Under Mrs. Karen Smith's leadership, standards for membership have remained high. An eligible candidate must have an "S" average in physical education and must have earned one shield through intramural participation.

American Field Service Committee

Foreign students participate in panel discussion at A.F.S. assembly.

This year, the American Field Service Committee was organized because of the need to give Southeast's foreign exchange student friendly and personal attention. With the aid of Mr. Clifford Carpenter, the committee sponsored activities to raise money for next year's foreign student and to make this year's student, Heinz Paier, feel welcome in America.

During the week of October 26, Austrian Flag Day, committee members sold Austrian flags and promoted a mixer. A birthday reception for Heinz, a Valentine's Day mixer and an A.F.S. assembly were other activities of the committee.

Heinz crowns king and queen at Valentine's mixer.

Specialized units perfect skills

Flag detail

Sergeant Edward Froelich, the R.O.T.C. advisor, instructs cadets in all aspects of military training. From this instruction, R.O.T.C. participants have gained enough knowledge to form specialized groups, serving the school. A list of these groups includes the rifle team, the flag detail, the color guard, the drill team, the exhibition drill team and the drum and bugle corps.

t with you'' delights castle audience

On March 11 and 12, the Southeast drama department produced the comedy "You Can't Take It with You."

This play, directed by Mrs. Eleanor Brown, deals with an eccentric, fun-loving family—the Vanderhoffs. Alice Sycamore has somehow escaped the family's bent toward eccentricity and has found a boy, Tony Kirby, who wants to marry her. Their marriage plans go awry when the Kirbys witness the police's attempt to arrest the Vanderhoffs, but Tony and Alice's relationship is saved by the wisdom of Alice's grandfather.

C.O.E. offers vocational experience

Cooperative Occupation Education is a joint effort of the school, home and employer, geared to afford a student a chance to gain applied knowledge in his field of interest. Participation in this program gives the student actual experience in his tentative occupational choice. Along with gaining new vocational information, students learn to work with other people and to develop a mature outlook on life.

early in season

With five returning lettermen, Southeast's hopes for a winning season this year were again promising.

The trackmen began working out on January 4, in preparation for the Big Eight Indoor Track Meet, held February 28-29. Mike Hoedl placed second in the 60-yard dash with Kent Eisler earning a fifth in the 60-yard low hurdles.

In the first outdoor meet of the season, Southeast overpowered Rosedale's squad 81½ to 51½ on the opponent's track. Four Knights then traveled to Columbia to participate in the state track meet. Those competing for Southeast were the 880-yard relay team, consisting of Mike Hoedl, Pete Parnell, Bob Langlands, and Nick Polallis, with Hoedl also running in the 60-yard dash.

Coach Jess Cross ably directed this year's varsity. He was assisted by Mr. Nicholas Gerhardt with the B-Team and Mr. Jerry Boyce, coaching the freshmen.

Next year we, the class of '66, will be a part of Southeast's alumni; yet we will be a distinct part, for our class is the final one to have attended Southeast for five years. We are the last class to have experienced the thrill of entering Southeast as apprentice pages, and having our love for Southeast deepened through five meaningful years.

The senior has reached the summ

When you look out the window of a Southeast classroom, only the surrounding lawns and houses are visible. But when you mount the winding stairs that lead to the tower, the entire southeast area can be seen. The comparison of the view from a classroom window and that from the tower is analogous with the scope of opportunity of the undergraduate high school student and that of the graduating senior.

The undergraduate student's life seems complete, but is limited as is the view from the classroom. As a senior graduates, he mounts winding stairs that lead not to the tower, but to the adult world. His carefree days are over. He must leave high school to explore the broad expanse of life.

Maggie,
Well, I guess
I owe you a lot for helping get me
and Jeanne together.
I really do appreciate it,
and I hope some day
I can do you a favor like the one you did for me.
Luff ya,
Ricky B.

Maggie,
You're really a great girl and it's really been great getting to see you this year.
Best of luck always.

Maggie -
You've a real doll & lots of fun. See ya in
Allen's this summer
I'm sure! Be good.
Love,
Kathy

Maggie,
Well, how did you stand clerical practice
the whole year? Must've been bored. We'll probably run into each other this summer. Be good & stay real sweet.
Good luck in the future,
Love -
Kay

"Reserved" Tommy."

(This book belongs to Maggie Hughes)

Maggie,
It's been great knowing you all these years. Your a sweet, kind, lovable, and gorgious girl with a great personality. stick with Tommy cause you and him will make sweet couples within a few years.
Best of luck Maggie in everything you do.
Sue K.

Will, I really don't know what to say to my best friend! but any way you have been the best of all way you have been best friends. And I hope we stay that way. I hope you all the luck and live with Tommy. this ete, you're cute couple. so, you naturally make up a cute couple. Will, I guess we won't be able to go to Kansas. Tommy won't let you go and Allen won't let me go. When we but up with our boyfriends (never I hope) then maybe we can go. I still think we ought to have a double wedding. Even Tommy thinks it could be cheaper. Dolly, Maggie, I don't know what to do. I will let you. Will, Mag, I guess I go for now! Tommy and all that you do. May is good luck with le a dear friends. May we always

Love & Luck,
Linda

P.S. Sorry I wrote sloppy and terribly! but I'm getting kind and I'm sucking a little bit the best!

-maggie,

I'll miss you. Out of all the girls I've met, you're the sweetest. Please stay that way. Greg Herndon '60'

P.S. "Good luck"
Hope to see you again & again & again.
